VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, Gazette: Why run on Spring Brook? There are good people in Spring Brook and there are bad ones, same as all over. And Spring Brook is not the only place where moonshine is made. There are other places all over town. There are good people trying to make their homes in Spring Brook. Why should a reuter run down the district? If he don't like it let him get out and go somewhere else, but he will find it wherever he goes. Moonshine is made all over the city, not only in Spring Brook. This cer- tain party being drunk and molesting women and children, he is known by many and never known to do that. No sign men coming from up town drunk and going through Spring Brook that they should have got it there. You can get it up town, not only in Spring Brook. They say you can get it in South Janesville and all over. Why don't they let men have their beer and light wine— they never would think of moon- shine. If it were not for men that don't know where they have had enough, there would be no moon- shine. A TAXPAYER IN SPRING BROOK.

New Salvation Army Head Seeks to Broaden Work

Captain George Boyle, new Salva- tion Army commanding officer, ar- rived here Wednesday afternoon, with his wife and two little daugh- ters. They came from Iron Moun- tain, Mich., where Captain Boyle or- ganized the local corps work. The new commanding officer says he hopes to broaden the work in this city and regards with favor the re- opening of a day nursery, if it is needed and the necessary support can be obtained. Mrs. Boyle has had nurses' training and is fully com- petent to manage such a department. In order to ascertain the extent of the need for a place where children under school age may be cared for while the mothers are at work, Captain Boyle would like to hear from all mothers who would like to take a little time to develop the plans but this can be done on a bet- ter basis if the number of babies and children who are likely to attend is known in advance. R. M. Bostwick of the J. M. Bost- wick and Sons store has returned from New York City where he spent two weeks transacting business.

EMBASSY LIQUOR IS BIG QUESTION IN WASHINGTON

(Continued from Page 1) Corps are really being permitted to bring in their supply of liquor with- out reference to the existing laws. But the chances are the matter will be ironed out informally between the department of state and a foreign government without recourse to legis- lation. Theoretically all diplomats are immune, for instance, from obedi- ence to the traffic laws of the na- tional capital and the Washington police had a deal of difficulty before the state department persuaded the ambassadors and ministers to ask their staffs in the interest of public safety to obey the speed laws. Something of the same sort may have to be done ultimately but there is no evidence now that the ambas- sies or legations are using their sup- ply improperly. The isolation of class- rather prove that on the whole little if any liquor of this kind has been sold.

Diplomatic Immunity. Diplomatic immunity is a courtesy recognized in international law and no member of a legation staff can be arrested or tried for any offense either against the American govern- ment or the acts of Congress. The only recourse the American govern- ment has is to ask the foreign govern- ment to recall a diplomat who has flagrantly violated American laws. If the crime is serious, a foreign govern- ment may even withdraw its claim of diplomatic immunity and permit one of its citizens to answer for a crime.

As far as liquor importations are concerned, members of the diplomatic corps are permitted to receive ship- ments because these are included under the broad term "personal effects." Some legal questions have arisen from time to time as to whether a diplomat must travel with his per- sonal effects to gain immunity from custom as the transportation of li- quors, for instance, on trains or in American ships is in itself a violation of American law and the ship owners and railroads do not like to be in the position of ignoring laws.

Whenever any article is imported either for wearing apparel or house- hold use, no customs duties are paid by diplomats. But should a legation or embassy receive an unreasonable supply of any product, the customs authorities would naturally have their curiosity aroused as to whether diplomatic immunity wasn't being used for commercial objects. When- ever such a contingency arises, the treasury department which has charge of customs would notify the state department which deals with ambassadors and plenipotentiaries and their staffs and a polite inquiry would be made as to the reason for the ship- ment.

A Reasonable Supply. Under the same theory some day a dispenser may arise to what is a reasonable or unreasonable supply of liquor for an embassy or legation. But the chances are the matter will be ironed out informally between the department of state and a foreign government without recourse to legis- lation. Theoretically all diplomats are immune, for instance, from obedi- ence to the traffic laws of the na- tional capital and the Washington police had a deal of difficulty before the state department persuaded the ambassadors and ministers to ask their staffs in the interest of public safety to obey the speed laws. Something of the same sort may have to be done ultimately but there is no evidence now that the ambas- sies or legations are using their sup- ply improperly. The isolation of class- rather prove that on the whole little if any liquor of this kind has been sold.

AT LAST!
A household soap that doesn't ruin dainty hands

Soft and lovely hands for girls and women who do kitchen work and housework. A new idea in household soap.

Look at your hands. Are they red and ugly? Three women in four who do their own work suffer this embar- rassment. Yet now unnecessary! Soft and lovely hands from the dish pan—and even, Madame, if the truth must be told—from the wash tub!

We offer soft and lovely hands to you. Your hands need no longer tell kitchen secrets to the world.

A new idea
We have perfected a new household soap. It is called Green Arrow. It has double the cleansing value of ordinary "laundry" soaps, and is made of Olive Oil in combination with other quick rinsing and cleansing ingredients. Years were spent perfecting it. New principles are embodied. Why hands are rough Ordinary household soaps contain 25 to 50% silicate of soda. This adul- terant as used in laundry soaps is in- variably accompanied by an excess of caustic which is harsh and harmful. This is what makes hands rough and ugly—"housewives' hands" that spoil the charm of so many women. Now—lovely hands for housewives Now we offer all women soft white hands. Wash dishes. Do your own laundry work. Clean woodwork—even scrub—yet have dainty, soft hands. Try Green Arrow for one week! It is all soap—no adulterants to ruin the skin. Then look at your hands. You will not feel the need of hiding them. Their appearance will delight you. And—it will cost you only 5c more a month to have them—the slight dif- ference in cost between soothing Green Arrow and harsh soaps. Don't figure the price of soaps per bar—that's misleading. Figure it by the cost per month. Green Arrow goes twice as far.

ACCEPTING THE AMERICAN PLAN.

Ignoring the querulous and scolding temper of Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the British exchequer, and of a part of the British Press, the British cabinet has accepted the terms of the American debt funding commission instead of putting it off until further negotiations have been entered upon. Mr. Baldwin went out of his way in an interview, when he arrived in England, to gratuitously insult the American people and rather minimize the ability of the American Debt Commission. We have had with us for several months an organization of eastern silk stockings and financial highbrows who have persisted in assuming that eventually the United States would take action in accordance with a noted prayer and forgive its debtors. It seems that Chancellor Baldwin and others of the British Commission came here with an exaggerated idea that these sartorially correct Americans made public opinion, and it hurt to find that the Debt Commission here was made up of the hard-headed and practical Hoover, Mellon, Burton and Smoot, and that they knew what they wanted, as well as realized fully that they were not mere sentimentalists but the trustees of the people of America. It came as rather a painful surprise that Mr. Baldwin talked even so slightly of the American Debt Commission though it was for home consumption.

While all the details of the American proposal have not been made public it is known that it contemplates an interest rate of 3 percent and a series of payments covering a period of approximately 60 years. This will be reported to the president and after that to congress for support of the proposal. Congress in creating the commission fixed a period of 25 years maximum and a rate of interest not less than 4 1/2 percent. It is this compromise, subject to the approval of congress, that Great Britain has accepted. There is one outstanding feature of the settlement on such a basis: we shall have no more discussion as to cancellation of debts from foreign nations and the precedent set by Britain must sooner or later be followed by France, Italy, Belgium and Rumania or else they will all be in the position of Germany as a repudiator of obligations.

The Kaiser according to all reports has entered upon the rolling pin stage of married life.

"HAYFOOT, STRAWFOOT, MARCI!"

"They were the happy days." Twice a year the town and country met at the training of the militia. Here one could meet the citizen turned soldier in his motley. Old uniforms, saved in camphor for a half century, relics of when grandfather fought in the Revolution and when Colonel Seth Tomlinson with his York State militia, held the advancing British redcoats at bay over around Ticonderoga. In 1814, were given an airing. That was the militia even he had here and there a company of "Blues" or "Grays" or "Rifles" or "Guards"—with uniforms that would make the High Mogul of a secret society green with envy for the gold lace, feathers, brass and silver of a century or less ago. Some choleric old chap who had fought at Buena Vista or at the taking of Chapultepec, gave the orders at the drilling. On one foot a wisp of hay was tied, on the other a bundle of straw, hence the command, "Hayfoot, strawfoot." That made it easier to remember left and right.

It was after the Civil war that we began to have a regularly trained military force in the states and were their record to be written in detail and fully, it would be one of which to be proud. Old training days passed with all the fun and waste and uselessness of the scheme, as a measure of preparedness.

But now in 1923, the good women of the Progressive League of Wisconsin want "them happy days" back. They give support to the entire abolition of the military forces of the state as advocated and fostered by the socialists and want a "citizen trained force" than can hop from the office desk right into the embolization of war at one moment's notice or less than that. That is the hope of Victor Berger, the desire of the socialist party, the demand of the communal radical who wants the way clear when he starts his dream of the rule of the proletariat with direct action.

There may never be rioting or outrage requiring the military forces of the state. But should there be, among the first to suffer are the women. It would be an illuminating sight indeed, to see this body of volunteer citizen militia double-quick-

Presidential Possibilities--V

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington.—The war whoop of Tammany braves will be heard in the 1924 democratic national convention as it has not been heard in 20 years. For the first time since 1904 Tammany will have a real candidate for the presidential nomination—a candidate who is one of its very own, Governor Al Smith.

Tammany is always a picturesque and a potent force in the national convalescence of democracy. It is the greatest thing in the way of a political machine that the country has ever known. It controls the biggest block of votes in the convention and it delivers those votes when, where and to whom the leaders decide. Rarely has a candidate failed of nomination who could command Tammany's support at the crucial moment and the leaders have usually played the game in such a manner that their vote has been the deciding factor, even if they have not invariably put over their first choice.

Politics is strictly business with Tammany. Its purpose is to elect a national, carry elections and control patronage and all the perquisites that go with success at the polls. There is seldom any sentiment in what Tammany does or undertakes to do. Ambitions, hates, grudges and natural affiliations can be forgotten and cast aside in a moment to do the thing that seems expedient from a party standpoint, or from considerations of what is best for the Wigwam. Leaders from other states have learned this to their sorrow in many national conventions when they have found that Tammany "plays the game" by the theory that candidates may come and candidates may go, the vital issues may be those one year and those the next, but Tammany goes on forever and with it the only vital issue is the one that may well be success. Politically speaking, the New York democratic organization is what one might term "hard polled"—it delivers the goods and it expects those with whom it deals to do the same.

This time, however, there will be no lack of sentiment in Tammany's presentation and support of Governor Smith. As has been said, he is the organization's candidate in every sense. He is one of the braves and he commands loyalty among the rank and file that is almost idolatrous.
He is one of their kind from the ground up. As one of the district leaders who was recently in Washington put it, "Al is the kind of a guy you can go to hell for and like him."

Wherefore, it is to be expected that Tammany will descend on the next democratic national convention with unprecedented enthusiasm and determination. In 1904 the organization supported Judge Alton B. Parker and the gentleman from Europe was nominated, but he was not really a Tammany candidate and there was an impression at the St. Louis convention that it was not so much a fight for Parker as a struggle to wrest control of the party from William Jennings Bryan. Besides, there was little expectation that the democrats would be able to defeat Roosevelt that year.

In 1908, Bryan swung back into power and gloried over his defeat of the New York boss and their machine. In 1912, Woodrow Wilson was nominated in spite of the New York organization, although the vote front that state was the deciding factor on the final roll call. At San Francisco in 1920, it did not appear that Tammany was vitally interested in the fight for the nomination, possibly again due to a conviction that it was not a good year for democrats to get "all hot up."

But the situation is different now. The Tammany braves believe they can put on their war bonnets and their war paint and beat their war drums with a reasonable expectation of putting over their candidate within the party and then electing him. If that does not bring out all the enthusiasm and all the fighting spirit that there is in Tammany then there is nothing that can.

That there are weaknesses in the Smith campaign is not to be denied. The very fact that he is a Tammany candidate will handicap him in appeals to democrats of many states. William Jennings Bryan doubtless will lay himself down and die rather than see such a candidate carry off the nomination, and Boss Murphy and his aides know what it is to have Bryan camping on their trail.

Then again, Smith is rated as a "wet" and that tag in the prohibition issue. His advocates say that he is not so much of a wet as he is a man of other things—notably a go-getter when it comes to corralling votes in an election—but it is distinctly a question whether the democratic party is ready to name a man for president who is not for the 18th amendment and the Volstead act just as they stand. The results of the elections last November may be interpreted as a setback for the dry forces, and it must be admitted that there are some spots in the country that are anything but bone dry. However, the leaders of any party will probably think long and hard before they decide upon a course that might arm all the forces of prohibition against them.

There is also the possibility that the candidacy of Governor Smith might stir up a religious issue that is not lightly to be regarded. The injection of such an issue into a presidential campaign is generally deprecated, but whenever the candidate is brought out for the quadrennial race invariably there are numerous and instant inquiries as to the church affiliations of each and every one of them. That this should be so is not so in a country such as this is beside the question. It remains a stubborn fact that it is so.

This issue cut a big figure in several states in the last campaign, notably in Oregon, where an especially bitter fight centered around it. Those whose memories run back to the Cleveland-Elihu contest of 40 years ago will recall what a furor it occasioned when it was injected into that campaign at the last hour. Indeed, wise party men of all political faiths know that the question of religion is always a live one, with all the explosive possibilities of T. N. T.

The greatest element of strength in the prospective candidacy of Governor Smith is the record he made in the recent campaign when he was elected by the largest popular vote ever given a subnational candidate in the Empire state. He had had a term at Albany and had been out two years, but there is no discounting the demand for his return. The people of New York did not seem to care a rap about his being a Tammany candidate, or a wet, or anything else that may now be suggested as an objection to his presidential aspirations.

If the embattled hosts of democracy are looking for a leader in the next national campaign who is a winner, they cannot ignore Governor Smith. He has a record in that line that no man in his party has equalled.

to the rescue of property and person, armed with fountain pens and window sticks and golf balls.
Socialists of Wisconsin, polling a less vote than in a number of years, now hold the balance of power in the state senate and have been complimented through the acceptance of one of their cardinal doctrines by the organization led by the wives of the governor and the senior senator by this sovereign state. "Hayfoot! Strawfoot!
Marci!"

BUD'S QUESTION.
I know how dirt gets on my hands, I know how it gets on my face, I know every day that wherever I play There is always some dirt in the place.
I know how it gets on my knees, For they gather it up by the heels, I know how the dirt gets all over my shirt,
But how does it get on my neck?

They're at me to wash all the time, There's nothing I can do to clean But they say: "If you please, will you look at those knees
And look at the face of him, too?"
I know how I gather it up, I know that I gather it up by the heels, I know how dirt comes to my fingers and thumbs,
But how does it get on my neck?

I don't use my neck when I play, I don't hit my neck when I fall, My neck doesn't touch dirty articles much And it should be the cleanest of all.
I know how my shirt waist gets black,
I know how my trousers get wrecked, I know how dirt lands on my face and my hands,
But how does it get on my neck?

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON

TO A MALE FLAPPER.
How do you get in those trousers, kid?
Do you get them on over your spats?
And do you get that sassy lid In the store where they sell men's hats?

Waddy's put on your hair? Vaseline?
Do you polish your own little nails?
Who's your particular movie queen?
Do you get scented notes in the mails?

Is your collar tight? Or is it the mumps?
And, tell me, since you are a clerk, Do you wear those one-step dancing pumps And take your cane with you to work?

Just one more question and then you can go—Really, now, what do you plan To be, when I'm around you flinny grow?
(That is, if you turn out a man.)

—Lester Lamb.

If France is aiming at world dominion she should take a look at a certain poor old boob who is babbling away to himself at Doorn, and change her mind.

We have never had any ambition to make an afterdinner speech to the Reptile Society of America. They had their annual party the other night and had their little pets on exhibition. One might have gone to there in the old days and felt fairly at home with the little beats, but conditions have been amended.

It is rumored that Uncle Joe Cannon stopped smoking on New Year's day, but personally we shall continue to regard this only in the light of a rumor.

WHAT I WANT TO SEE.
A barber who doesn't four-flush around for five minutes after he has really finished your haircut.
A twenty-year husband who walks with his wife and not elevates her ahead of her.
A man or woman who doesn't more nerve on the phone than face to face.

—Lester Lamb.

New York woman, aged 130, is very anxious as to the whereabouts of her youngest daughter, aged seventy-two. Well, one can't help worrying about the girls these days.

New York woman has died and left her money to the dogs, and it is not the first New York fortune that has gone the gilder.

It is no crime for women to wear short skirts, if they wish to, but it is a crime for some men to wear golf pants.

Who's Who Today

EDWARD T. SANFORD.

Edward T. Sanford has been named by President Harding to be associate justice of the supreme court to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Justice Pitney. Sanford has been United States district judge for the eastern and middle districts of Tennessee since 1907.

Judge Sanford was born in Knoxville, Tenn., in 1865. His father had moved to Knoxville when he was a boy. He was previously, with only 35 cents and a jack-knife in his pocket, but he prospered so that at the time of his death he was worth $1,000,000.
He left an estate of more than $1,000,000.

Judge Sanford, the oldest son, studied at the University of Tennessee and received his law degree from Harvard in 1889.

During his long legal career, Judge Sanford devoted much attention to education and public affairs. From 1898 to 1907 he was a lecturer in the law department of the University of Tennessee. In 1907 he became assistant attorney general, but resigned to become United States district judge for the eastern and middle districts of Tennessee.

He is a trustee of the University of Tennessee and of the Layson-McCabe Library, and a governor of the George Peabody College for Teachers.
He is a former vice president of the American Bar Association and in 1907 and 1908 was president of the Tennessee Bar Association.
He has honorary membership in the Harvard chapter, Phi Beta Kappa, and the Alpha Beta State Bar Association.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
Feb. 1, 1883.—J. M. Pool and S. P. Hart, who have lately organized under the name of the Janesville Silver Mine company, and who for the past six months have been making propositions for the silver plating of articles, have finally succeeded, and are now doing business in Woodruff's new brick building on North Franklin street.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Feb. 1, 1893.—An Emerald Grove man was hurt last night when he was between Shopiere and Clinton and was struck by a train. He was injured and had trouble in getting away.
He was thrown 20 feet high and into a canal dripping several feet deep but was not seriously injured.—Supp. W. C. Mitchell of the water works threw a bucket of water on the face of a man who was on a bridge over the canal.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Feb. 1, 1903.—The Gazette was printed at the Recorder office this afternoon while a new press, with a capacity double that of the present one, was installed by McGraw-Hill. Others shipped six valuable Chrysler cars to the Schulz company, Milwaukee, yesterday. This was a busy day for the tobacco warehouses. The funeral of Mrs. James Harris was held this afternoon.

TEN YEARS AGO
Feb. 1, 1913.—A series of talks of the preservation of wild life and game is being given in the schools of Rock and Jefferson county by Deputy Game Warden W. P. Mason while on patrol.—The Plaster Sand and Gravel company of this city has increased its capital with a capital of $30,000.—A report shows that the city is saving money by quarrying its own rock.—The new Christian Science church here will be dedicated tomorrow.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

AN ANOMALOUS SITUATION
One of my pupils submits for a text today, dear children, an anomalous, almost unique situation:
"I have a running argument with Dad in regard to taking a bath twice a week. He insists that if I bathe twice each week my skin will eventually become dry and cracked." I believe that bathing twice a week will not harm one's skin. Besides, I work in a very dirty office.
"Which of us is right?"
—Yours truly,
"DOROTHY L."

There was a time, they tell me, when parts had to take severe measures to make children wash behind the ears, even. But the times change.
I can remember vividly a running argument I had with Ma on this same subject. I was determined to brush my hair after the bath but was ringing and Ma insisted that I should not brush my hair and that I should threatened it would hurt me if I did. I did it. I did. Nevertheless, a boy could not go to school without brushing his hair as far back as he can see without straining his neck.
Parents must be firmly dealt with, if necessary. But let us try to be reasonable about it.

Dorothy says she works in a dirty office. Still, in all seriousness and with every consideration for good hygiene and good health, I think Dorothy's father is more nearly right, especially if Dorothy's semi-weekly bath is a hot water soap. To be sure, young persons naturally have a method of their own, but I stand the rigorous effect of hot water and soap somewhere better than older persons whose skin becomes drier and more irritable. Let this oiliness of the young skin be an important factor in preserving the softness and beauty of the skin, as well as the warmth of the body.

Some philosophical reader recently expressed great disappointment that I should take such a stand on the bathing mania. He observed that he had always supposed bathing and good cleanliness was the chief difference between civilized man and the savage. That is a misapprehension.
No savage could be as dirty as some of our most bathed people are, if we disputes, or to give legal advice, or to conduct research on any subject.

concisely, and enclose a return address for return postage. Give full name and address. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q.—What is the amount of mail received by the information bureau?

A.—The Haskin bureau receives more mail than any other bureau in Washington except the government itself. The amount varies according to the season and the subjects which are advertised. The bureau has received as many as 60,000 letters in a single mail.

Q.—In the ordinary surface-fired soft coal furnace is there any advantage in wetting the coal? E. C. S.

A.—The best furnace for wetting the coal is the one which has the only advantage in wetting the coal in a hot air furnace is that it prevents the dust from flying when the coal is thrown in the furnace.

Q.—Please tell me how to take the lead out of a rifle barrel. B. F. H.

A.—The National Rifle association says that a steel or wire brush is the best for taking lead out of a rifle barrel.

Q.—We have a violin with a label inside which reads, "Antonio Stradivarius, Cremona, Italy, 1730." How can one distinguish a real Stradivarius from any other? A. B. S.

A.—Antonio Stradivarius was a major of violin who lived in Cremona, Italy, from 1717 to 1787. Therefore the authenticity of an instrument bearing so contradictory a legend as this is not a problem to be questioned.
However, it is better to consult a violin expert to ascertain definitely whether the instrument is spurious.

Q.—Will you please tell me whether or not it is good form for a man before one's name on entering cards?
A. M.

It is not only correct to use the title "MRS." on a visiting card but an unmarried woman, but the omission of the title is a social error.

Q.—What is an avert eye? C. S. W.

A.—Avert, in law, means evident or unmistakable and an avert eye, accordingly, is one which may be clearly proved and was manifestly intended.

Q.—If the chauffeur of one of the rich automobiles were arrested for speeding he would be arrested for speeding because the car would be the subject of American law? G. D.

A.—He would not be subject to American law since the privileges and immunities of an ambassador extend to the members of his own and of his official household, including servants.

Q.—When was the Indian head first used on the one cent piece? H. E.

A.—The Indian head was first placed on the American one cent piece in 1859.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1923.
This should be a fairly lucky day, according to astrology, for the Sun is in a strongly benefic aspect. Uranus is adverse.

It is held to be a favorable rule under which to seek any success in the future, and should assure success in obtaining just compensation.

The death of a labor leader is indicated before the spring and this may precipitate some radical movement.

Industry is rather well directed at this time when unemployment will cause less anxiety than the high cost of living.

During this planetary government leadership may be sought by men who are prominent in politics, but the stars appear to smile only on new aspirants, not on those who have had their day.

This should be an auspicious day for certain plans of the president of the United States, who will, however, have many new problems to solve.

Again more than one change in the president's cabinet is prophesied. Much gossip will be disseminated in the nation's capital, owing to the peculiar power of Uranus.

It is well to be cautious in one's movements while this direction of the stars has power. Beware of haste as falls may be easily broken in a short time.

This is not a fortunate aspect for aviation in the United States, but future events will justify the utmost interest in this branch of national defense.

Again the seers forewarn the public that crime will gain impetus in all parts of the United States. Sinister stars seem to direct robbery, embezzlement and robbery in every form.

Murders will continue to increase in number during the present year, it is predicted, and new methods of coping with evil will be tried.

In contrast to the apparent growth of crime and the lack of moral values there is a great spiritual awakening in this new year, astrologers foretell.

1855. This design was used until 1909 when it was discontinued and the portrait of Lincoln used instead.

Q.—How much money is collected and spent each year for military purposes? J. K.

A.—According to the annual report of the secretary of the treasury, the total amount spent for military activities in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921, was $478,800,004.70. The amount spent in 1922 was $884,076,714.86.

Q.—Most alfalfa or clover crops are planted with "prairie" A. M. G.

A.—The department of agriculture says that if your object is to enrich the soil by growing cover crops, it is a good practice to plant alfalfa or clover crops should be planted for a season or two before planting the grape vines on the same ground. The practice of transplanting or covering up only grapes but another crop at the same time, would be of advantage for the first two seasons only.

The Wall Flower

By MARION RUBINCAM

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS
Pamela Nelson is so terribly shy that she is called "The Wall Flower" by her friends. She is a girl of 17, with a very pale complexion, and is the only girl in her class who has never been kissed. She is a very quiet girl, and is the only girl in her class who has never been kissed.

She makes a friend, and she is not in a hurry to tell her friends. She is a very quiet girl, and is the only girl in her class who has never been kissed. She is a very quiet girl, and is the only girl in her class who has never been kissed.

She was so much in earnest over her errand that she took a taxi, an unheard-of extravagance for her. George, who had been her friend since childhood, was with her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young lady for six months, but somehow I can't understand how she can be so happy. I am sure I love her and we are engaged to be married in the spring.

I am a traveling man and when I am out of town she is always running around with her hair and her face. I am sure I love her and we are engaged to be married in the spring.

Adventure Trails

Blazed for you by LEWIS ALLEN BROWN

(Say, Brother Adventurer, if there are any camp or woodcraft stunts you want to know about—ask me. If you know of any that will help the other fellows tell me. Address me in care of the editor of this paper.)

"There's someone wig-wagging us," exclaimed Ted as he and his cousin Ned were returning to their camp after a long hike. Just as they were looking at the country over.

"But he isn't wig-wagging anything with any sense in it," grumbled Ned as he studied the distant hills with waving at some sort of a cloth fastened to a stick.

"Probably he doesn't know how to wig-wag a friendly signal," protested Ned.

"Ted studied him a moment and declared that the man seemed to be waving too steadily for just that. He had heard of some boys who had been sitting on a ledge, shoe and stocking off and their hands waving in a slow, steady way, and he had completely lost himself when he saw the signal.

"Don't know what's best to do," he said, "but I think I shall have to ask you boys to go for help."

"To our camp," said Ted, "we'll carry you to our camp."

The young man laughed and said it would be impossible, but as their camp was only half a mile away, Ted hurried back for some canvas to make a flag left over from their tent-making, while Ned remained with the latter, cutting some poles for the latter, using a heavy canvas needle and ordinary lippen fishing line for thread.

They soon had the latter made as the latter was not at all difficult to cut. Ted placed at (1) and (2) were not made then. Poles were slipped through the pockets and as the young man was not very heavy the boys got him to their camp without difficulty.

"I think," said the young man, "that I could rest over night my ankle would be strong enough to walk on."

"Better not sleep on the ground the way we do," warned Ted, "because you're not used to it and might get cold, even though we do use thick beds of pine needles."

"But how?" interrupted Ted. "It was then that he cut the pieces at (3) and (4) and fastened them to the poles as shown. He simply raised the latter in the crocheted sheets and there was a fine canvas cot."

Ned kept him from getting into cold water and the young man's ankle was relieved of the pain and brought.

"I'm sure glad that I tried this Great Medicine," Are the Grateful Words of Charles A. Belton.

"I'm sure glad that I tried this medicine," Belton for it has certainly proved its worth in my case," Charles A. Belton, lifelong resident of Janesville, living at 233 Madison street, told the "Truth" expert recently.

"My stomach had been out of shape for several years," he continued. "It caused me no end of suffering. Was formed in my stomach after every light meal and I'd become terribly swollen and bloated at times. I had to be careful about my eating all the time, as so many things disagreed with me. Add foods were sure to cause me suffering."

"After reading in the Janesville Gazette about how Trutona helped so many local people, I bought a bottle for myself. Really, I can speak only the highest praise for this preparation. My stomach acts fully 100 per cent improved now and my meals

GILMAN CLEARS UP MANY CASES

Evansville Police Chief Is Real Sleuth at Rounding Up Robbers

Evansville Police Chief Gilman has cleared up many cases of robbery and other crimes in Evansville that are not cleared up because it has been difficult for him to find the guilty parties. He has been very efficient in the possession of a large amount of evidence which he has been able to use in clearing up many cases.

The admitted forger of the $15 check, passed Mr. Wolf Nov. 16, is now in the city jail at Rockford, Ill. where he is being held for theft at the Rockford Prison Works, and awaiting trial of the county grand jury. Gilman arrested him at the jail at Rockford, Ill. He admitted having forged the check in November, posing as a former restaurant owner of Iron Mountain, Mich., seeking a location for a new restaurant. He registered at the hotel house, registering a woman who accompanied him as his wife. He gave a check for $15 for board and lodging, which was turned over by the Iron Mountain bank, marked no funds.

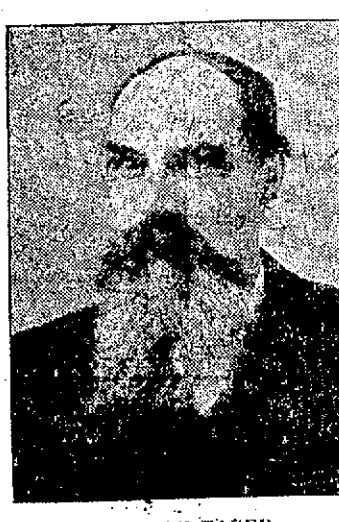

Chief Gilman "called" Bernard and the man then admitted that his right name was Joe Watson, and that he had run a restaurant in Michigan, but at Channing, Mich., of Iron Mountain, Ill. His father he claimed is Harry Watson of Chicago, N. D., and that he himself had been at St. Joseph, Minn. More serious charges will be brought against Watson, due to his visit in Evansville with the woman, who was accompanied by a three year old child.

Whether Watson alias Bernard, will ever be brought to Rock county to answer the charges is a question. It is believed that he will be brought to Rock county to answer the charges.

The robbery of the Northwestern depot here Jan. 25, while the clerk was in the building, was cleared up by Chief Gilman who interviewed a young man who is held on a similar charge at Rockford, Ill. When Chief Gilman the man there were witnesses in Evansville who could identify him, admitted the robbery. Chief Gilman had to have made a regular bust of stealing daylight robberies. He has been very efficient in the possession of a large amount of evidence which he has been able to use in clearing up many cases.

EVANSVILLE SLOW IN CASHING STAMPS
During a war when everyone was helping to win it by putting their money into government investments, Evansville people bought a great number of war savings stamps which matured on Jan. 1, 1922 and which are redeemable in cash or can be traded for other government securities at the post-office. Postmaster P. G. Sawson states that but 25 per cent of the stamps turned in have not been cashed. Bankers stated that there are a few Victory bonds which matured Jan. 1 which should be cashed. It is believed that the money will be returned as the final interest upon was for the date of maturity of the bonds.

EAGER LIBRARY IS MONUMENT TO BELOVED CITIZEN

ALMERON EAGER.

Evansville—Almeron Eager's name has been perpetuated by the establishment in 1918 of the Eager public library through the bequest of $10,000 made by him at his death Oct. 15, 1905. It is 21 years since Mr. Eager's death but he will always be remembered by present and future generations because of the beautiful library which Evansville so much enjoys.

Mr. Eager's life was one which might well be emulated by others. For his rise from a farmer boy to president of the Baker Manufacturing company was accomplished by his sterling integrity, persistence and ability. Born in Oneida county, New York, March 24, 1843, he came to Union township, Rock county in 1854 where he purchased 80 acres. Later he bought 200 acres near Evansville and in 1863 formed a partnership with W. S. Smith in a general store in Evansville and became connected with the company formed to build a brick factory as secretary. In 1873, Mr. Eager with A. S. Baker, L. M. Shaw, L. Myrall, C. Snashall and W. S. Smith, organized the Baker Manufacturing company to manufacture windmills, tanks and pumps. Mr. Snashall was president and W. S. Smith, secretary. In 1888 Mr. Eager was elected president. The concern won two gold medals at the World's Fair for the best wind and power mill.

Mr. Eager served his town, the village and the county in various political offices, being town treasurer for many years, member of the village board, serving three years as its president and was a member of the Rock county board of supervisors nine years. He was elected assemblyman from the second district of Rock county in 1900.

Mr. Eager traveled extensively in the United States, visiting every state and territory and taking a trip to Alaska in 1899. The following year he went to Europe, attended the Paris World's Fair and visited in Switzerland, Belgium, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

His widow, Mrs. Olive Eager, still lives in Evansville, as does the daughter, Mrs. Gortner. Eager's daughter, Mrs. Eager, cashier of the Grange bank, is a grandson of Evansville's benefactor.

Mrs. George Noyes left Wednesday for Battle Creek, Mich., where her daughter, Miss Veda, has been taking treatment. Both are expected home the last of the week.

Baker Expects to Do a Big Year's Business

If the winter's business is any criterion at all the Baker Mfg. company, Evansville's leading industry, expects to enjoy this year the best it has seen in several seasons.

To Evansville this would mean as large a force employed at the plant as has ever been seen in normal times, a force of 140. The company at the present time is employing 125 men and four women in shop and office and running to full capacity and has enough orders to assure three months running without an additional.

Business has been stimulated by the addition to the well known Baker line of a combination air and water pump, readily attachable to a private water system, which has found a ready market. Additional machinery is being installed in the foundry department in the form of new moulding machines to allow increased production.

Several changes have been made in the design of pumps and pump jacks adding strength and durability to the product. Steel cut gears are now being used in making the pump jacks.

The winter business is largely in Texas and Oklahoma. Never has business there been as good as it has this year, John Christman said.

Most of the work in the plant is done by piece which enables the employees to increase their wages to an attractive amount. At present the plant is busy determining the profits of 1922 and taking inventory, which is the method employed to determine the profits to be divided among the employees as a remaining wage.

Evansville Has Farm Meeting Hall

Evansville farmers have a comfortable meeting hall cooperatively owned and operated. The hall is given over free to any agricultural meeting.

When the city of Evansville was through with the several emergency school houses, good frame structures, about 90 farmers who were patrons of the cooperatively owned milk plant, pooled a fund to buy one of the school buildings. It was moved to the milk plant property, fitted with a stove and lights. As a result the farmers have their own meeting place in the heart of the city.

The Evansville creamery is cooperatively owned and was one of the first stations signed under the Sapine pool contract. The farmers pooled to buy the land and building and lease the property to the present operators.

Andrew Ten Eyke is ill at his home.

Every One Has A Kind Word to Say of The Page (Internal) Pile Treatment

Was About to Undergo Operation

Camden, N. J., 2817 Folk Ave.
Mr. E. R. Page,
Dear Sir:—You will have to excuse me for not answering your letter before, but I wanted to convince myself of the merit of your treatment before replying.
Now in regard to the treatment I cannot praise it too highly. After 10 months of continual pain I was surprised how quickly your treatment worked.
I tried several different kinds of treatments and I found them all wanting.
I was on the verge of going to a doctor for an operation when I saw your advertisement.
It appealed to me because to cure piles you have to know what causes them.
It is now 6 months since I have taken your treatment and I have not had any trouble since. Today I have personally recommended this treatment to all pile sufferers.
I wish you the best of success. I remain, gratefully yours, HARRY SCHLECHTER.

Cured After Suffering Untold Agony

E. R. Page Co., Marshall, Mich.
My Dear Friends:—I received your kind favor. One week ago yesterday I was in bed helpless. Today I have cleaned my four rooms, cared for my children and feel fine. I am taking my medicine regularly and feel sure I would have been dead if I hadn't gotten some relief. I was bleeding so, and Oh! the agony. I cannot find words to express my thanks to you. I am feeling fine and do not know I ever had the piles.
A sincere friend,
MRS. M. L. BUCKNER.

Had Both Protruding and Bleeding Piles

Dear Sir:—I am glad to say your medicine has helped me and the last package has cured me. I have been two months without any medicine and have done a lot of hard work since. It is a wonderful remedy. When I sent for the first treatment I was not able to be on my feet and suffered terribly. It was the protruding and bleeding Piles together. At night I could not rest and I had given up to have an operation; but read of this remedy and so I gave it a trial. It has saved me from a lot of suffering and also many dollars. I can't say enough to praise the Page Pile Method. I am glad there is a remedy for piles as I do not think much of these operations. I am feeling fine and glad I found out about your wonderful medicine. Will always recommend it.
Yours respectfully,
MRS. NINA YOUNGBLOOD.

Little Boy Cured in a Week

Dear Sir:—After I had given three of the best doctors in this town a chance to do something for my little boy, they all failed and told me the knife was the only chance for him, so I let them all go and never did any more for the boy until I tried your treatment. It was not a week till his piles left him and they have never showed any signs since. Have recommended your treatment to others and they say they are going to order. I am going all I can for you.
Yours as ever,
J. S. MCCLAIN.
